

JASSA is the journal of the Securities Institute of Australia. It was formerly published as the Journal of the Australian Society of Security Analysts, now incorporated into the Institute. JASSA is published four times each year, providing an avenue for views and information on matters affecting the securities industry.

Material published in JASSA may not be reproduced without the permission of the author or authors or of the Institute. Acknowledgment of the author or authors, the Securities Institute of Australia and JASSA is required.

The JASSA Editorial Board invites the submission of articles for consideration. Information for those wishing to contribute can be found on the inside back cover of this issue. Opinions and comment presented as Letters to the Editor are welcome.

Correspondence in connection with JASSA should be addressed to: The Managing Director, the Securities Institute of Australia, PO Box H99, Australia Square, Sydney NSW 2000.

Tel: (02) 9251 6799 Fax: (02) 9251 6287

Subscription inquiries should be addressed to SIA divisional offices (see inside back cover).

ISSN 0313-5934

JASSA is published by the Securities Institute of Australia, ACN 066 027 389.
Australia Square, Sydney NSW 2000

Design and production by:
The Custom Publishing Group Pty Ltd
3 Montague Street Balmain NSW 2041
Telephone: (02) 9555 1455.

Editorial consultants:
Bennie Communications Pty Ltd

2 DODGY DATA: HOW NOT TO CONSTRUCT A QUANT MODEL

Quantitatively based investment models are only as good as their inputs, warns PHILLIP DOLAN. Biases can creep in at any stage. Similarly, analysis of investment manager performance can be flawed by the use of inappropriate data or methodologies.

6 BUYING TROUBLE? HOW TO MANAGE CONFLICTS IN MBOS

Management buyouts can have significant advantages for vendor companies and the new owners – but the sale process can be a minefield of conflicts. JUSTIN RYAN and NICK WORMALD explain how to deal with the potential problems.

10 FROM THE ACTING MANAGING DIRECTOR

The Securities Institute's Acting Managing Director, PENNY LE COUTEUR, details some of the major changes associated with the Institute's new structure.

11 CARVING UP THE COSTS

Competition has contributed to a significant change in the way investment service providers earn their income. NORMAN SINCLAIR analyses the differentials and reveals some surprising insights on who adds value – and for whose benefit.

18 TOMORROW'S INSTITUTE

The approach of 2000 is an appropriate trigger for a look back at the Securities Institute's history and its rapidly changing nature. EDNA CAREW interviews SIA Life Member Leigh Hall about the milestones and the Institute's future directions.

21 INFLATION DERIVATIVES: MANAGING THE IMPACT OF THE GST ON SHAREHOLDER VALUE

While inflation is recognised as a financial risk for most corporations, few attempts have been made to quantify the impact of adverse inflationary changes on shareholder value. The approaching introduction of a GST brings this issue into focus. JAMES GLOVER and QUANG NGUYEN discuss a corporation's potential exposure to inflation and how CPI derivatives can be used to hedge these exposures.

26 GETTING THEIR MEASURE: EPS OR OCF/S?

A debate is growing about the relative merits of earnings per share and operating cashflow per share as reliable indicators of companies' financial performance. MAHENDRA GOYAL and MING-WEI ZHANG report on a study of the perceptions of sample groups of company executives and accounting academics.

31 TAKEOVERS: A STRONGER PANEL

A strong submission by the Securities Institute has influenced the government's revision of the role of the Corporations and Securities Panel, ensuring a more effective mechanism for the regulation of takeovers.

32 NEW MEMBERS OF THE SIA

37 INDEX FOR 1999